FACULTY AND ACADEMICS

Structure Directs Students

The Guiding Light of Bishop Dwenger (and its biggest Saint) is the principal, Rev. Edward J. Krason. When he isn't hard at work in his office, making announcements over the P.A., or patrolling the halls, Father Krason may be in conference with a teacher, holding a telephone interview, or perhaps just relaxing tensions in the lounge. Regardless of his role, Fr. Krason is always working towards an improvement in Dwenger or its students.

The Dean of Girls, Sister Wilma, assists by making sure that early dismissal excuses are plausible—and that students with yellow blouses and blue sweaters are duly penalized. The boys turn to Father Kline, Dean of Men, when they are in trouble. He always has a smile, good advice—and a tie for forgetful boys.

Faithful Awareness Is Goal of Religion

Perhaps it is the most difficult subject to be taught—because it isn't crammed or memorized or outlined or passed out in mimeographed form. Not really, however, for Christianity can't be graded on a 1—10 scale as all know. There is a slow, steady awakening of an idea and perhaps it will last. Freshmen must be orientated into the religious atmosphere of high school and the teachers who handle this situation are Fr. John Gillig, Mr. Walsh and Mr. Miller. They teach many of the basic truths about the Church and bits and pieces of human psychology as well.

The sophomores, under Sr. Chantal, Mr. Corbett and Mr. Miller, participated in rousing discussions on various aspects of the Sacraments. Fr. Kauffman presented to the juniors a comparison between self and others. Mr. Szymczak retraced the history of religions and compared them. All classes were worthy efforts to make everything relevant, to dot the "i's" in Catholic Ed.

Math Develops Calculating Abilities

Where have all the numbers gone? to  $\sqrt{x(89)} \div 64$ , everyone! If you're like us you'll shake your fist in the air and yell "@3?/!

Geometry, algebra I and II, and senior math are especially designed for future college preparation and computer programming.

A busy math department is headed by Sr. Maris who teaches math III. Under her jurisdiction one learns all about trigonometry, algebra and other assorted "goodies"! Geometry and algebra "come alive" under the direction of Mr. Thompson who displays great enthusiasm toward anything concerning numbers. Sr. Maurice brings her cubes and rectangles to her classes, while Mr. Meade stresses the abstract, and inculcates into the minds of his students the many and varied as well as intricate aspects of mathematics.

Dwenger Creates Future Scientists

Paula Bartholomy and Ann Hipskind probe the hidden treasures of the frog.

The emphasis in this year's science classes has been on practical, applicable uses. The student was encouraged to develop a scientific attitude towards his environment. Tapes, demonstrations, speeches, lectures, labs, class discussions, films, field trips, texts and tests were used to achieve this end. The experiences were intended to impart a useful knowledge as well as an understanding of its place in modern life.

Mr. Tom Waning and Mrs. Joyce Gloman guided biology students through a "squeamish," but interesting year. Chemistry students, under the directives of Mr. John Longenecker, found that solving chemical equations is like solving word puzzles. Earth science students discovered that our earth is made up of more than just dirt! Science had, for students, become a part of LIFE.

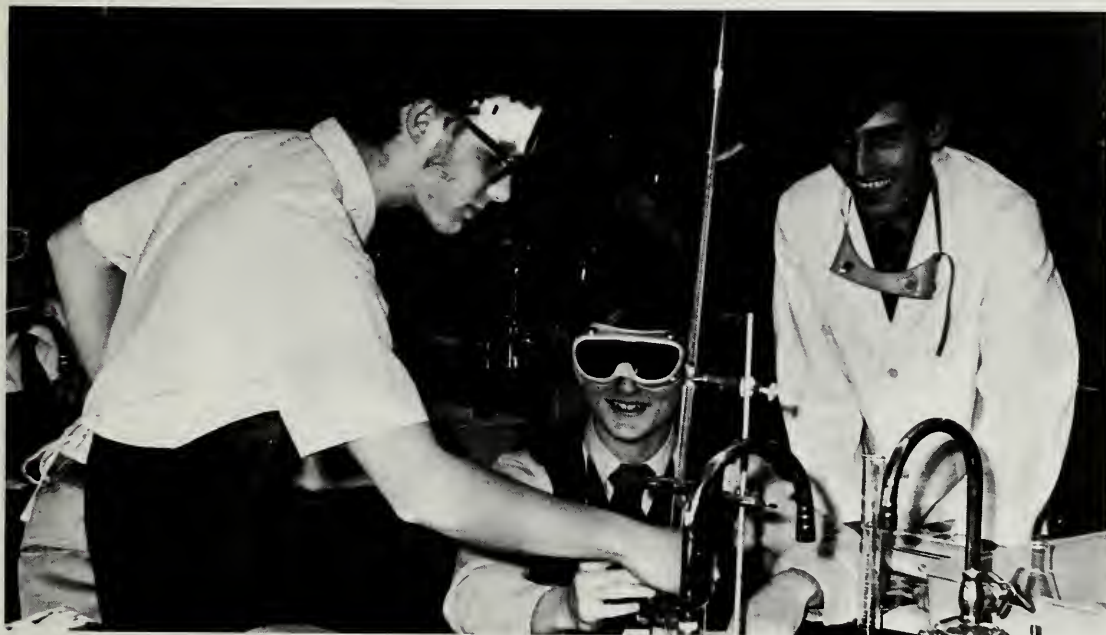

Mr. Waning oversees Jeanne in her measured experiment in advanced biology. In one experiment students dissect rats in order to record their reactions to drugs.

Jeff Webb says in a very scientific voice, "Don't make waves in physics class, baby!"

Mr. Longenecker shows Ken Vonderhaar and John Kline how much fun chemistry can be, but one must use extreme caution and wear goggles at all times!

Steve Niedermeyer and Stan Meyer create a dramatic presentation of their English readings.

With Sister Chantal English is dramatic.

Literary Characters Beget Life in English

Bishop Dwenger affords opportunities for reading skills with its reading lab shown above. Mrs. Raison is in charge of this class study.

"I am bored . . .
You are bored . . .
He is bored . . ."

No more! A sudden liberation and students found themselves reading Beowulf, James Thurber, Carl Sandburg, and Peter Pan with a new enthusiasm. Writing poetry and short stories, filming movies, painting pictures, and finding underneath it all a surprising relevance has changed the outlook of English.

The English department consists of very qualified teachers. They are Sisters Angelene, Annella, Chantal, Janice Martha Anne and Rita, Father Pfister, Miss Petrucelle, Mrs. Raison, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Richard. The philosophy of these English teachers was not only to present the literature to the students but also to get them into active participation. The creative abilities of the students were brought out mainly through dramatic productions and writing original poetry and short stories.

Library Supplements Students' Knowledge

Where do all the eager beavers gather? Naturally, at Dwenger's large storage of knowledge—the library. Through the years, Sister Jeanne, librarian, has built up an excellent and reputable collection of books on a variety of subjects. Along with the compilation of the great literary masterpieces, students may find useful information from the record library consisting of such greats as Shakespeare and the Beatles.

Mrs. Madeleine McComb is the able assistant who guides students through the "Reader's Guides", card catalogue and categorized shelves of reference books.

Another distinguished service is the Audio-visual department. Mainly through the contributions of the Mother's Club, Sister Jeanne has been able to purchase new film and slide projectors along with filmstrips on varying topics.

Right: Brian Houlihan seeks the friendly assistance of Pat Piontek in finding one of the current periodicals. Above: The library furnishes Bishop Dwenger students with a wealth of books and research materials in almost any field.

The new copying machine is the pride and joy of Sister Jeanne and her trusty sidekick, Mrs. Madeline McComb.

Connie Miller and Joe Wissing use the library carrels for more than just mere studying. Jack Burns and Greg Deininger organize the library AV equipment schedule on the giant bulletin board to avoid confusion with the use of the many and varied machines.

Develops a Variety of Linguists

Most students at Bishop Dwenger are bi-linguists because of a well-organized language department. Four languages which the school offers are French, German, Spanish and Latin.

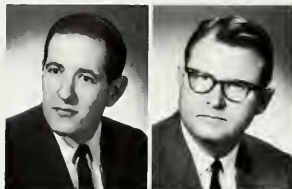

Students acquire fluency with the help of records, tapes and books which increase in difficulty as the students advance through the course. Dwenger is most fortunate in having a language lab. This facility enables teachers to aid students individually while his classmates listen to tapes. As many as six tapes may be played at a time on six different channels. Besides learning oral and written aspects of a language, students are also exposed to the differences in cultures. This is accomplished through lectures, slides and even meals of a given country. At Bishop Dwenger High School a language involves more than a mere book.

Social Studies Forms Convictions

To maintain a dynamic equilibrium, there must be preserved a peaceful system for channeling change. The U.S. Government is that system. Its birth-history, its anatomy—economics, and its practice—government, are all taught by Dwenger's social studies department.

The economics classes in a Wall Street Journal project, played the stockmarket to obtain an idea of functional capitalism. The seniors in Mr. Ray's government classes explored the exercise of free choice by posing elections for local officials. The American history classes under the guidance of Sister Maurice and Mr. Tone, became active in a project for the prevention of pollution in the Ft. Wayne area. While these were busy with modern government, freshmen, taught by Mr. Bart and Mr. Krouse, learned how government developed.

"Rocketing" forward, Mr. Ray takes off on another interesting economics excursion leaving Jackie Christie fooled and flabbergasted.

Song of Singin' Saints Sweetly Soar; Humanities Thrive at Dwenger High

"Culture is the name of the game" as far as choral groups are concerned. At Dwenger it is no different. To the rollicking rhythms of Sister Janice's special beat, students sang some of the latest hit tunes as well as more difficult selections for the annual choral events. Variety, rhythm and quality classified the varsity choruses which sang to their hearts' contents and seemed to enjoy every moment of it.

Art appreciation, music appreciation, drama and seminar classes were a part of the cultural program, electives for interested and qualified juniors and seniors.

Above: Enjoyment of slides is only one phase of art appreciation. K. Young, S. Hilker, M. Stefanek, E. Lawrence, M. David, J. Close, S. Leffers, P. Schaab, D. Cronkite, S. Henry, M. Multerer and A. LaMaster seem intrigued by what Miss Petrucelle says and shows. Top: listening to the strains of a charming waltz (?) are Tom Roembke and Jim Sanborn. Left: Taking the place of the one-time orchestra is the unique string group, small in number, but great in quality. Chris Gall, Dave Rowan, Mrs. Delana Levy and Lee Woodrum pose. Far left, above: In her usual standing position at the piano, Sister Janice directs a group of the Varsity Chorus. George Caprio and Jim Kahn seem to be engrossed in their music. Far left, below: "Up, up and away in my beautiful balloon," can almost be heard as the chorus lustily sings to the tune of Sister Janice's baton. Left to right: FIRST ROW: Carla Goheen, Tom Datzman, Jim Wagner, George Caprio, Bob Pequignot, Alex Demetroff, Sally Pettit and Donna Lucker. SECOND ROW: Tim Foy, Ken Carteaux, Jim Kahn, Dennis Kite, Bob Nancarrow, Peggy Doyle and Barb Reifel are lifted up in glorious song.

M. Leichty, M. Pickett, Cindy Garrison, T. Murphy. STANDING, Mr. Brown, D. Lyvers, B. Sunderland.

Dwenger's Band, Concert Chorus . . . Represent Great Spirit and Soul.

In September they marched . . . beginning their practice at 7:30 A.M. to the tune of the rising sun! Daily they could be heard beating out the music of " . . . the Saints go marching in," or other lively march melodies. The band played hard throughout the football and basketball seasons to add zest to all Saintly activities. They ushered the team onto the playing field and tapped out the rhythms of half-time entertainment. Mr. Richard Brown, an experienced band leader guided his "marchy" group and kept them ever on the move with his band and his spirit. Mrs. Delana Levy lead the concert chorus which provided songs for special occasions and greatly enhanced the monthly Holy Mass.

THREE: Gregory Schuster, Edward Plant, Tim Berner, Terry Borden, Timothy Borden, Carl Lyvers and Timothy LaBrosse. STANDING are: John Plant and Thomas

Datzman. These loyal band members were ever faithful for sports events.

Talent Displayed in Artistic Creations

Some think it's all fun! Others believe it's all work—but art is a class consisting of a bit of each—work, fun, and a real sense of “doing your own thing.” A piece of clay becomes a lovely slab vase, a blank paper an intriguing design, a few bits of balsa or wire an elaborate construction. Art is a therapy; it is healthy; it is good for many ills. Art develops creativity and conveys to the students a sense of wonder, as well as a love for the beautiful.

In mechanical drawing students gain skills in the use of precision instruments to set up scale drawings of all sorts of objects from gaskets to caskets! Colonel Hammer “hammers” his knowledge into students with force yet with kindness!

Sister Angelene's talented students display their artistic paintings. Mark Meyer, Ken Robertson, Ann Dehner, and Vikki Junk stop momentarily to greet the photographer.

Students Prepare for Clerical Positions

An important part of the curriculum of any high school is that it includes business and office practice. Bishop Dwenger is no exception. This department, staffed by Sr. Carmen, Sr. Josele and Mr. Richard Krouse, includes preliminary courses of shorthand, typing and general business math. After the students have developed the fundamental skills, they are able to proceed to more rigorous displays of their talents.

With the skills they acquire, students are able to obtain clerical positions in many business offices throughout the city. Those who do not wish to make business a career, yet desire the skills, are offered courses in personal typing and in notehand. These valuable manual skills are put to use in college or in jobs requiring them. Each student who completes the course or only takes typing for his own enrichment soon discovers that he has gained a wealth of knowledge which he truly has on his finger tips in the literal sense indeed!

Best Cook Is a Race Between the Sexes!

Home economics—or "Going their separate ways." Chef and tailoring—or more specifically—"Who's been eating my porridge?" Culinary art courses have seldom given so much in such little time to so many. Mrs. Frushour refried some virile potatoes and did it in style. But it's frightening when one considers the number of boys handy with needles and threads, skillets and rolling pins. It's not even safe to walk the halls without some chauvenist chasing behind, madly screaming, "Look, cookies!" As though these were the veritable "bread of life."

Family living is "meeting the challenges of marital . . ." Young women here learn to accept the higher role (apart from the necessities) of companion, partner and lover. This class offers more than meets the eye.

Physical Education Releases Tensions

Physical education affords the energetic and enthusiastic freshmen and sophomores with many outlets for putting their energy and enthusiasm to productive use. Two well-qualified instructors, Mr. John Titzer for the boys and Mrs. Kathlene Myers for the girls, attempt to provide as many different, new outlets as possible for the underclassmen to master.

Physical education courses at Dwenger use the President's Plan for physical fitness. At various times during the year, tests are given to compare the ability of students with those in other parts of the country. To supplement the tests and exercises executed during the course, the students take part in competitive sports, and also games, such as basketball, tumbling, bowling, track or dancing.

Mrs. Kathleen Myers

Two heads (Mrs. Gross and Mr. Schreiber) are better than one when it's time to collaborate on guidance department problems.

Guidance Promotes Potential Growth

Throughout the school year it is inevitable that students encounter vocational problems. Two very dedicated persons have taken over the responsibility of aiding bewildered students attain their educational goals. Mrs. Carol Gross and Mr. Richard Schreiber, boys' and girls' guidance counselors, respectively, are available for individual guidance concerning their schedules, grades, or the future.

Under the watchful supervision of the counselors, freshmen are given the Iowa Tests of Educational Development. Junior year opens with a repetition of the Iowa Test to determine the individual's growth in knowledge. During the third year the Preliminary Scholarship Aptitude Tests and the National Merit Qualifying Tests are also taken, while senior year encompasses plans for the future.

Making use of the vocations file are T. Murphy, P. Suelzer and C. Stamm.

Motto for Model Maintenance Is "Cleanliness Is Next to Godliness"

Shiny hall, sparkling windows, a spotless kitchen, a clean, well-kept cafeteria, a beautiful gym floor. All these things were maintained by the staff of people who keep Dwenger in tip-top condition at all times!

As chief engineer, Mr. Eugene Karst, organized the cleaning tasks, with the aid of his loyal assistants, Mr. Louie Esquivel, Mr. "Bud" Van Allen and students Pat Biggins, Dan and Charlie Strack, Stan Ensley and Ed Plant. Cleanliness was their motto!

In the clean, spacious kitchen, Mrs. Anabelle Gee kept order and prepared menus. Mrs. Lillian Gregg, Mrs. Vereda Main, Mrs. Crescentia Bonifas, Mrs. Phyllis Walker and Mrs. Helen Bassett were chief cooks and bottle washers.

Mrs. Crescentia Bonifas, Mrs. Annabelle Gee, and Mrs. Helen Bassett prepare dinner for eight-hundred ravenous boys and girls.

Super-janitor Louis Esquivel helps "clean up" cafeteria.

St. Peter's Receives Dwenger's Hearty Efforts; Student Council Has Active Year

"Ladies and gentlemen—presenting the greatest show on earth!" This is the finest way to introduce the Student Council this year. So much happened at once that it was almost impossible to follow the entire show. In the first ring the Education Committee endeavored to perform a death-defying feat—the revision of the traditional honor point system—with success!

In the second ring fantastic leaps were made in civic affairs as students spearheaded a project to help St. Peter's Church in the inner city. Students could be seen dangling precariously from the heights of a ladder as they painted, scrubbed, cleaned.

The third ring was fine entertainment, and to think—all this without a net!

Students Join Clubs,

Have Fun, "Walk for Development"

Dwenger has had many firsts. This year's Hobo Day can now be added. For the St. Peter's project, a nominal fee was charged so that dress regulations would be forgotten and students could come to school in "casual" attire. Dwengerites were transformed from "run of the mill" to "individualistic."

Students have varied interests, and among them is walking. In April, students walked for development. Aching muscles and blistered feet earned money to help the unfortunate. Saints really had "sole" this year.

Various Organizations Get to "Where

FTA and ABC and NBC and ABC and Key and Z are all clubs and organizations of Dwenger. Who belongs? Any student who pays the dues, makes the meetings and lends his services. Seriously speaking, there are several clubs to which the students may, and do, belong. The Key Club volunteers its services whenever and wherever they are needed in a manly capacity, such as hauling tables, or ushering at the Coliseum. The Future Teachers meet regularly, while other groups, such as the Spirit Committee may be less organized, but they are responsible for work done "behind the scenes" and for keeping up the SPIRIT of the entire student body, a great task.

Action Is''

Busy, Busy Students Delve Into

Pin pointing Ft. Wayne's most substantial pollutants are Anne Dehner and Tim Kearn. For Earth Day, the junior class researched which enzymes are going to be the end of us all and when our rivers will turn from mirky to swampy.

Projects

Dwenger students have enthusiastically participated in many outside activities. Projects ranged from anti-pollution to actual trips to Europe! French lessons at the Regional Campus rank high on popularity list. What do language lessons lead to but trips to foreign lands, which many students hope for.

"Save the earth!" was the battle cry of the juniors as they dove into a massive anti-pollution campaign. The Earth Day celebrations included a funeral procession for good ole Mother Earth. Participants wore gas masks to demonstrate their "thing." All in all, it was an eventful year!

Above: Much work and acquired fluency have helped Elizabeth Schevtchuk, Katy Carroll, Cathy Blee and Mike McLaughlin prepare to live with a foreign family in Europe this summer.

Left: Winning the Regional Science Fair with a frequency counter he built himself, Tim Kearney anticipates world competition. He, along with Sr. Wilma and Sr. Maris will attend the International Science Fair in Baltimore, Md. to test his scientific ability.

Pep Club, Twirlers Spark Saint Spirit

Consisting of approximately fifty faithful Dwenger women and headed by Laura Kreuger and Rita Walz, the Pep Club has cheered at every home basketball game, as well as pep rallies and even at a few "special" away games.

During the ten minutes allotted during halftime, twirlers managed to give a spectacular show consisting of a feature twirler doing "her thing" to the beat of one of the latest tunes. Each "show" had a bigger and better routine than before. Much credit went to these girls for all the time and effort they used to entertain fans.

Clubs, Other Activities Intrigue

Sometimes it was an assembly. At other times a special display. Then there were clubs—Theresians, Radio Club, French Club—these were a few of the extracurricular activities of many students.

The Radio Club grew as students obtained novice licenses and began the ascent of the radio waves. Sr. Maris initiated her hams by holding meetings, and—a bake sale to purchase a transceiver for the club.

Theresians prayed for vocations and learned something about sisters by visits to Donaldson and Chicago, and the French Club planned to tour “Frenchy” Quebec with Mrs. Simmons and the French classes.

Interested, Intelligent Students

It's fun, but also work, to set up a sheet of layout for a newspaper. Paula Brown, Betsy Schevtchuk and Kathy Knight soon discover this as they work on the next Trumpet issue.

Trumpet Staff Sets Pace of "Indianapolis 500"; Wins Each Race

Tension . . . tumult . . . chaos . . . bewilderment . . . All these qualities add up to become the feelings of the Trumpet staffers.

Newspaper people here at Dwenger have described the meeting of deadlines with the Indianapolis 500. Just like the men in the Big Races, they are always wondering whether or not they will really "make it" this time! Under the able leadership of Nancy Oser, Editor-in-chief, the busy Trumpet-eers somehow seemed to make the mark each time this year. Assisted by Cindy Carroll, Nancy accumulated a wide variety of ideas as the newspaper got off the press each month of the school year.

Sr. Virginia directed this miniature "500" and spent long hours making sure that deadlines were met. All Staffers took time at Thanksgiving to attend the NSPA Convention in Chicago to learn techniques and to improve the award-winning Trumpet.

Hard Work, Fun Characterize "Aureate"

A last minute rush for late copy, a push here and there, a sudden grab for a student photographer's tie to get him to "where the action was"—were a few of the extraneous activities of the Aureate staff this year. Editor Terry Altmeyer, assisted by Sue Federspiel, managed somehow, to get everything into focus at least two days before each company deadline, although there were some blurs in each "section" frame! Nerve-racking moments and near-tears were experienced as easy-goers took too much time to enjoy the work, but discovered, to their dismay, that working on a yearbook is not only fun, but also hard, grueling labor under the eyes of a hard task-master adviser, Sister Angelene. Problems evolved of which students were often unaware, but all these behind-the-scene difficulties helped make the Aureate this year one of the finest books that Dwenger has produced—at least in the minds of the optimistic staff! "It was a——year!"

A serious-looking Terry Altmeyer, Editor, works diligently at a layout plan. Sue Federspiel carefully crops a picture and Sister Angelene, Aureate adviser, smiles her approval.

Perusing Chuck Parrot's negatives seems to be an engrossing task for Janet Bloom, Terry Altmeyer, Mary Flaherty and Sue Federspiel.

Dance Band Good as New

... and the beat goes on ... pounding rhythm into the brain. Charleston may have been the rage, but Dwenger has adopted the "Sound Spectrum" as the current thing in the area. Under the direction and the management of Sisters Janice and Martha, this group has sung and danced its way to the top. Some command performances were for the Royalty of Magnavox, the Tokheim Club and Phelps Dodge at Hall's Gas House. They have offered entertainment to many!—"and the beat goes on ..."

Another wonderful group of entertainers was Mr. Brown's fine Dance Band. On a magical, musical tour of good will, they visited Veteran's Hospital, St. Anne Home and a contest at Notre Dame. They're "Unforgettable!"

"Big Top" Lends Excitement to '69

Boundless enthusiasm was displayed by Dwengerites as they prepared for a joyous 1969 Homecoming. Although the customary float was not permitted at New Haven's field, dance decorations the following night far surpassed all expectations. Jolly looking clowns, large figures in paper sculpture dominated the scene and set the mood for the Big Top effect. A lively Spirit Committee with its resourceful volunteers aided in making the '69 Homecoming a huge success. Katie Schirmeyer, Joe Hayden, Shelly McCormick and Sue Kartholl, along with other SPIRIT-filled enthusiasts set the zest-full pace for Dwenger's most lively Homecoming Dance on Saturday, October 11.

Everyone who attended proclaimed the Homecoming one of Dwenger's best, despite the fact that it was held the night following an exciting game between the Saints and the Bulldogs which ended in a tie between the two teams.

Bloom, Chris Rowan, Ele Jaehn, John Sabo, and Terry's escort, Mike Christman, smile their approval, and enjoy the glories of "Court for a night." The court is selected by student vote and from these favored ones the QUEEN is chosen.

Cupid Enchants All to "Have a Heart."

Hearts and flowers, mingling with the pulsating beat of the Fewdle Lords set the stage for the annual Valentine dance. Cupid was there in all his splendor, along with his magical arrows, to create an atmosphere of excitement and gayety. Nobody escaped the spell of his mischievous darts as the evening wove its whimsical spell.

The soft strains of "Farewell to Today and Tomorrow" permeated the gym as the students blissfully drank in the music. All these elements combined to make the night a memorable one, especially for Queen, Terry Cashman and her lovely court.

Below: Either indigestion or "soul" are the cause of the young man's behavior. He is a Fewdle Lord, so it must be SOUL.

Lower left: Money may be the "root of all evil," but the students found that it was the only way to get a glass of punch from Mrs. Ream!

"Yankee Doodle Comes to Town!"

"George M." was a smash hit. History was repeated as the 1970 Spring Musical was presented on the Dwenger stage. After the many trials and tribulations, worries and problems, the life of George M. Cohan was relived in song.

A special thanks is due to many; to Mr. Thompson for his great help and unending patience; to Sr. Janice for all the help through sore throats and sour notes; to Kathy Roemer for all her behind-the-scene help, and especially to Greg Patirck for his fantastic interpretation of George M. Cohan. A special thank you all who supported the presentation and the production of "George M."

Dwenger Parents, Moms and Pops, Continue Traditions Begun in '63

So many times in the history of a school, certain groups have contributed much towards the general welfare. Very few students realize how much their own parents have given of their time, effort, energy and money so that Dwenger could be the school it is today. We hail them! The Home and School Association became a source of communication between school and home as it displayed its effectiveness in quarterly meetings and the annual Back to School Nite program. The Men's Club and the Mothers' Club became fundraising organizations which have worked effectively to furnish the athletic department, the AV equipment in the library, band uniforms, the school chapel, and furniture for the publications room. The Century Club, though less well known by students, has for its mute monument, the quarter-mile track!

Cheerleaders Ignite Enthusiasm

Spirit! Pep! Vitality! That's what Dwenger cheerleaders are made of. They were the sparkplugs for all games and pep rallies. When spirits began to lag, they poured on the "yell power" to infect the spectators and the team as well with their undaunted enthusiasm and loyalty.

Cheerleading means many hours of hard work and practice, summer camps and perhaps an occasional sprained knee, but Dwenger's "dolls" performed through it all. Thanks to the Varsity, the JV, and the Freshmen cheerleaders of 1969-1970, as well as Joanne Hargis, mascot, a peppy Dwenger did not "Spare the spirit and spoil the soul."

Cross Country Men Make State, Experience "The Loneliness of a Dwenger Long-Distance Runner"

Making their mark as the first Dwenger team to compete in a state final, the 1969 Varsity Cross Country Team finished the season with an eleventh-place rating in the Indiana High School Athletic Association Cross Country Meet held at Indianapolis on November first. The Varsity season was a true display of Dwenger might, as the team "ran up" a 12-2 record.

In addition to making a "first" for Dwenger, other accomplishments of Coach Rocket Ray's squad were placing fourth in the sectional cross country meet and second in the regional meet. The powerful Dwenger squad was led this year by seniors Tim (Rat) La Brosse and Ulrich Reitzug, who showed that hard work and determination pay off in the "long run."

The Varsity football season began quickly, ended slowly and is best summed up as "frustrating." Led by Coaches Bart and Titzer, the Saints learned the fundamentals of the game. The desire to win was there, but Dwenger's men could never quite seem to capture victory and the season ended in a 1—7—1, with Concordia the only win.

Broken bones and torn ligaments, along with bruised and battered faces, proved the fighting spirit of the Saints. This year the initial men were chiefly seniors and it was the seniors who were injured. Because of this bad turn the responsibility fell upon the yet untried underclassmen. These displayed strength and a promising future of carrying on the Dwenger tradition of true, hard-hitting football.

Every one of the games was tough, so the season provided the Dwenger Saints with valuable playing experience. This hit hard, played rough, and displayed the "true grit" needed in football.

Takes City Title; Frosh Promising

Mike Cullen carries for the Saints as Bob Nancarrow blocks.

Coach Fred Tone can be proud of his sophomores for their faultless and determined play throughout the season. Coach Tone, assistant to Coach Bart, has come up with the best football record that a team has posted to date. This is a feat of which both Tone and his men can be proud. The reserves won the city crown and were never beaten by a city foe. North Side managed to stalemate the Saints to a 6—6 deadlock, but in a string of four games, the J.V. won by a total margin of five points. This is testimony that the competition for the city championship will be more heated in the near future. The sophomores displayed a superb defensive unit, giving up less than a touchdown a game. They outscored their opponents by a spread of 117—30. It was truly a wonderful season!

Freshman coach, Sam Talarico, started this season as a greenhorn at Dwenger, as did his gridiron players. Talarico previously coached a successful campaign of basketball and football events at St. Jude's. The Frosh slated a 4—2 record throughout the season. The only defeat for the rookie Saints was a 32—0 shutout by the Irish. Talarico instilled "Italian initiative" to wrap up a commendable season for the Freshmen. Both the reserves and the Freshmen beat the city champs, Luers, by their largest margin. The Junior Varsity crushed the Knights with a 42—0 score, while the Freshmen stomped them with 40—0. The reserves therefore sported a 6—0—1 record and the Frosh a 3—2—1 mark.

Excitement . . . tense moments . . . rousing cheers . . . close scores . . . overtimes . . . all these things described the JOY of having a great basketball team in the '70 season. The Varsity Saints, inspired and encouraged to action by a new coach and higher goals, pushed on to score a winning record, gaining valuable experience for future years. Combined with a proud student body, these qualities resulted in both a mental and a physical up-lifting. A sectional thriller added to the enthusiasm and helped to top off a basketball campaign described by Coach Titzer as simply "encouraging." Yes, it was a great season and provided many "encouraging" moments.

Muscle, grit, determination are displayed by Bob Nancarrow as he drives in for a lay-up.

Enthusiastic, tough-skinned Junior Varsity hardwood players displayed obvious talent with their many hard-fought conquests over city powers. South Side, Elmhurst and North Side were but a few teams handed defeat by this tough squad. The Saints came within points of winning the Central battle only to lose in the last, tense seconds of the game. The Tigers later won the City championship, proving the significance of this particularly exciting contest.

The Freshmen team scored a promising mark for upcoming varsity campaigns, under the expert guidance of their new and experienced coach, Sam Talarico. Though the sophomores won the plaque for "spirit," the freshmen were just mere threads behind in their loyalty and tremendous school spirit.

Have Track; Will Travel—Fast!

During the past few years Dwenger's track team has been moving forward and improving each year. FORWARD from a team of a few individuals to a team with an overall balance set out to win its meets. For the first time, even the team itself is experiencing true TEAM effort and a determined spirit. Coach "Bart" has said of this year's seniors that "They have worked hardest of any team in any sport he has ever coached." He, with Coach Ray has umpired the team to a successful year with 11 wins and 5 losses. Bill Phillips broke the 440 record of 50.5 running a 50.4.

Bill also led the mile relay team to a 3:30.5 school record. John Coonan "sailed" to a 13' mark in pole vaulting. Tim LaBrosse holds the two-mile record at 9:47' and broke the mile that was 4:35, running a 4:34.5. Seniors in this case provided the SPIRIT.

Golf Course Is Training

3.D.H.S.'s golf team has just completed another successful year at the cost of other teams in the area. Supposedly in a rebuilding year, the Saint linksmen captured a number of dual and triangular meets. After losing three of the five Varsity lettermen of '69, the outlook was bleak. Gary Ream was the only Varsity man who returned this year and consequently, under Mr. Titzer's direction, there was a bit of shuffling done in the starting positions. This enabled juniors, as well as some of the sophomores and freshmen to gain recognition. The highlight of the year came against Luers when the Knights posted a 201 score, a bit over forty strokes a man and good enough to win most matches. Led by Gary Ream's two-under-par 34, the Saints captured the match.

Seniors, Juniors Hit Hard Court; Hoosier Hysteria Is Intramurals

"Hectic action. Mass insanity . . .!" These direct quotes but mildly express the impression of the rollicking intramural games played between Junior and Senior homerooms. Zoom! a senior boy shoots for the basket . . . and . . . misses, again! Flip! In went the ball in a great surprise shot. The intramural program had a great purpose. It was based on the premise that well-rounded students need recreational activities in his sedentary life. Students who participated benefited greatly by keeping physically fit or by having had the opportunity to "let off steam." The noon "laugh-in" therefore provided clean, wholesome fun for students who do not otherwise participate in school sports and events.

G.A.A. Provides Fun, Opportunities for Dwenger Girls to Become

G.A.A. Girls' Athletic Association. That's what it means! Was it a club for running about aimlessly in the gym? Piling upon one another in glee? No, for it was really much more than meets the eye in these few representative pictures, which display very little of the tremendous energy shown by girls who joined up and were active in the G.A.A.

Goals for physical fitness were established and successfully reached by many. Girls were able to gain points for various activities, thus achieving a letter as a special award. Real competition was evident in bowling, and swimming was added to the many events already on the schedule. Mrs. Kathlene Myers was an active and energetic teacher who successfully led this active group towards achieving sound bodies in which sound minds may function.

You can bet Ginny Klein and Rick Peterson took many a long hour to practice for this scene.

Senior Class Enacts "The Late Christopher Bean"

Tim Rodgers and Tim Kearney proved to be a "couple" of the more interesting characters!

Are Chris Bean's paintings really worth a fortune? Will the villain steal the goods? Can Abby retrieve her ring from the chest? These are some of the questions in the senior play "The Late Christopher Bean," directed by Mr. Thompson and Kathy Young. The play revolves around a complicated plot in which Abby, (Sharon Gabet) the maid of Mr. and Mrs. Haggett (Tim Rodgers and Julie Suelzer) has a special affection for the painter Chris Bean, who died leaving Abby with a portrait of herself. The Haggetts soon discover that all of Bean's paintings are worth a fortune and the race begins in which all try to get the money. It is not until the final act, however, that the audience learns of the marriage of Abby and Chris—giving her all the "goods" and the play a surprising and delightful ending. The cast and the crew outdid themselves to make the play great.

Super Seniors Spell Success!

Superseniors of "seventy" each show traits of individualism and organization. Each was voted by the Senior class to top man or woman in the individual categories. These categories included best dressed, dancer, most courteous, likely to succeed, athletic, friendly, and co-operative. Elaine Arata and Bill Phillips, co-valedictorians and most scholastic are absent from the pictures because they were too busy studying. The entire Senior class and the year-book staff congratulates all fourteen seniors and wishes them the best of luck in the future.

Best "swingers": Jose Guevara and Kathy Arnold; best dressed: Gayle Barwick and Wally Ream.

Big athlete D. Minick conquers little D. Logan.

Linda Weigand and John "ferle" Offerle demonstrate to appalled, yet courteous, luscious Lisa Locke and Jim Griffith how to be "friendly".

The little caveman Mike "Ski" conquers big cavewoman Ann LaMaster.

M. Mettler co-operates with J. Hayden as S. McCormick "pays" D. Nicholas.

4. Kathy Busche
5. Diane Lynch
6. Nancy Kozak
7. Shelly McCormick

Debbie Cronkite and Gary Schroeder "lead off."

Mike Christman "celebrates" during the prom while various seniors enjoy the spectacle.

Bob Chamness and Cathy Roemer are given formal greeting by Junior hosts.

Father Krason, Sr. Martha Ann and Sr. Carmen enjoy the liquid refreshments with Don Nicholas and Katie Schirmeyer.

Gary Schroeder proudly crowns his date, Prom Queen Debbie.

The cameraman finds Chris Bassett and Phil Ueber enjoying the festivity.

The "Time of the Seasons" Is the Time to Celebrate!

Right: Seniors are "checked off" as they enter for the After-Prom. Bill Fiore seems eager to get in there!

Baccalaureate Mass, Banquet

And so it was . . . ended. A four year stay at Bishop Dwenger High with all the, the fun, the work, the tears, the efforts and the lazy moments when freedom beckoned and the days became hot and muggy. Memories of frustrations, excitement, and, at times, loneliness, will always remain, but life must go on, and with it the Seniors of the memorable class of 1970.

Real excitement began with the Baccalaureate Mass at St. Jude Church, where Monsignor Girardot was the gracious host and the celebrant for the Eucharistic Sacrifice. Concelebrating with him were the four priests who reside at Dwenger. Father John Pfister gave the homily, wishing the seniors the best of luck and God's blessings. At the banquet which followed, the graduates and their parents were feted in style and there the main speaker was Mr. Robert Kearney who gave the students much food for thought.

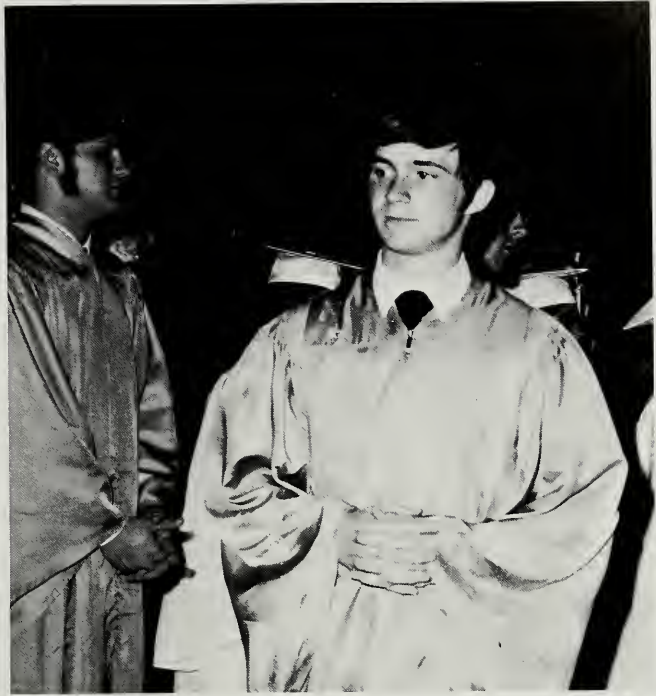

Father Krason, Mrs. Tone and Mr. Tone reflect on the invocation at the Baccalaureate dinner. Also seen are Monsignor J. Wm. Lester, Superintendent of Schools, Fr. Pfister and Dan O'Connell, newly elected President of the Student Council.

Chris Stamm and Beth Evard complete the solemnity of the Graduation Mass by the reception of the Eucharist.

Offer Food for Body and Soul.

The Graduation Mass offers Dave Hilker and John DiFilippo an opportunity to reflect on the past four years.

Robert Williams and Sue Byers receive their congratulations from Father Pfister on their salutatorian honors. Watching the procedure is Father Kauffman. Awards were presented to all deserving students after the dinner.

Father Pfister proudly leads the new graduates from sober ceremonies to "unsober celebrations."

Dwenger's Class of 1970 Become Leaders of Tomorrow

LEFT: John Offerle gives Candy Muldaney five as he offers his assistance to the young ladies coming down the steps after receiving their coveted diplomas. Rita Marcotte is also seen.

what next?

After high school, what: travel, work, service, college or technical school?

Regardless of your choice, how far you go in this space age depends partly on your imagination but primarily on your education and training. Conquering new horizons will demand more knowledge, more skills, more training and more specialization.

Our free-enterprise system, the backbone of our country, has given us the highest standard of living in the world and the greatest degree of individual freedom. And it offers you the opportunity to make your mark in any field of endeavor you choose.

Mark Schirmeyer 1949-1970

We lovingly dedicate this page to the Memory of Mark Schirmeyer, who was killed on May 25, 1970, on the grounds of the University of Notre Dame. Mark was an exemplary student who was a friend of everyone. He was a leader in his own right and a member of the first graduating class of Bishop Dwenger High School, the class of 1967. He was managing editor of the Aureate during the 1966-67 school year and was without a doubt the best business manager the Yearbook staff has ever had for this important task. The Administration, the faculty, the staff and the students of Dwenger honor his memory and offer condolence to his family who have always been so faithful to Bishop Dwenger High school. He is ever in our prayers.

Yes, It Was a Good Four Years . . .

To be free,
to be able to stand up and leave everything behind—without looking back to say YES—

Dear Readers:

We hope you appreciate the trouble we went through to produce the AUREATE (subtitled THERESA SPEAKS THE WAY OF THE STREETS.) Without the help of Saint Angelene, the Yearbook Moderator, and the forever-tardy Chuck Parrot, our picture-man, this yearbook wouldn't be in your hands. Actually, we did little - if anything - to promulgate the AUREATE. It kind of worked itself out through the months.

We would also like to thank Don Weber, our "professional" photographer from Roberts, who obligingly snuck us out to lunch at McDonald's, and Mary Flaherty, who really should have received a Yearbook Award. Kathy Young, our Feminist with a flair for poetry, likewise cannot be forgotten.

To our successors we can only say "Good Luck" and too bad you didn't get to go to De'troit!
